Photoshop CC 2018 has several new and improved tools to crank out your own masterpieces. You can use the GPU-optimized Tagged Images, which shrink video and daily photos in real time. You can edit up to six photos at once to make a video. You can showcase your new projects in the new presentation mode, which allows you to convert your favorite PBR channels into a 1-bit color format to print your poster. Hi all, thanks for your great advice. I was lucky and had a free machine to test on.
When I upgraded to this LR version on one machine, performance was the issue. The computer was very lightly loaded. We do have some fairly large projects and a lot of large files are being done and I was afraid of running faster than usual. But I was pleasantly surprised to note that this version is noticably faster. I think updating to the latest driver would be the best of all.
Regards,
Loherz It seems that many people had trouble with the performance during the update and I'm currently quite busy with such an issue. I will do my best to finish quickly so that I do not have to restart my computer. Nevertheless, I did all of my profiling and reduced the size of the library and presets folder to 0.5 MB. I'm still working on the issue. Please do not use trial versions of photoshop, especially not the latest one. I added a "Partial Review" feature so that you can select a folder or a set of folders. And all your settings are saved. Hi,

Any information on the performance slowdown? I took the time to downgrade to 4.3 as I wasn't having a problem, but I may need to just wait until 5.5 refresh. I removed all of my plugins, but it never went as smooth as I thought. Adobe, you're killing me!
Regards,
Allen Peacock
